

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and apparatus are provided for delivery and regulation of a process fluid to a multi-cell electrochemical device. A controller regulates the process fluid flow, after at least one of the process parameters indicates a drop in load current draw, based on the operating rate of the fuel cell and the 5 rate of decrease in the load.